Projects

E Commerce Golf Website

Jul, 2022 ———— CURRENT

This project is all about redesigning and adding some new features using NextJS, MongoDB. As a front-end web developer, my core activities include:

- Working directly with the client to develop technical solutions for the business cases.
- Setting up a scalable, maintainable, and consistently NextJS codebases.
- Incorporate fundamental design principles and methods to implement a user-friendly interface using Figma.
- Create modular, responsive templates using modern CSS/SCSS techniques and javascript.
- Build RESTful APIs for creating, fetching, updating, and deleting product data by using the built-in NextJS API routes and MongoDB for storing data.

Productivity App

May, 2022 ———— Jun, 2022

I built this web app for myself to concentrate on my work and study. The feature of the project contains the Pomodoro timer, to-do list, and focus time analysis. For more details:

- Built on MERN stack (MongoDB, Express, ReactJS, NodeJS) and Redux/Redux Toolkit.
- Build RESTful APIs for creating, fetching, updating, and deleting to-do lists, and count focus times in a day through Pomodoro timmer.
- Design and implement cutting-edge user interfaces that look good and are easy to use/understand using Figma
